WAILUKU'S NEW CHURCH READY

(Special Bulletin Correspondence.)
Wailuku, Maui, Feb. 19.—The new reinforced concrete church, "The Church of the Good Shepherd" Wailuku, is now completed. The Rev. Cannon W. S. Short, rector, and the Vestrymen, met in the new church last Wednesday afternoon and passed resolutions thanking the contractors for the faithful work done by them on the building. Hon. H. P. Baldwin, one of the donors of the new church, was present for a while and expressed his delight in seeing such a beautiful structure completed with satisfaction to all concerned.

The pews and the altar furniture and other things necessary for the complete furnishing of the church are being done at the Kahului Railroad Company's workshop, and Superintendent J. N. S. Williams will see that these are finished and placed inside of a month.

It is possible that the new church may be opened for services within one month, but the consecration by Bishop H. B. Restarick of Honolulu, assisted by other clergymen of the islands, will not take place until sometime before Easter.

A new loan association was started in Wailuku this week. The meeting was held in the Wailuku Town Hall, and many of the young Hawaiians of Wailuku and Kahului took part in the proceedings.

This new association is to be known as, "The Wailuku Realty and Loan Association Ltd." The officers elected were: President, J. H. Kuwana; Vice President, Capt. W. E. Bal; Treasurer and Auditor, Chas. Wilcox; Secretary, Chas. F. Rose. Directors: T. B. Lyons and Jas. N. K. Keola, together with officers.

The presentation of the "District School" by about twenty of the leading ladies and gentlemen connected with the Union Church, Wailuku, last Saturday evening was declared a great success. The hall was crowded, many of the elite from Punahoa, Spreckelsville and Kahului, being noticeable among the audience. $100.00 was realized free of expenses.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. teresting and the singing was good.

POLICE PREVENT ACCIDENTS

At the noon hour today there were no reports of accidents sent in to the police station. Sheriff Jarrett and Deputy Sheriff Rose made arrangements this morning, placing the foot police in charge of Senior Captain C. H. Baker, while Chief of Detectives McDuffie had his men posted all over the town. The mounted officers were also on their posts, obeying the orders of the senior officers, under the direction of the Sheriff. The officers helped prevent accidents.

In the Capitol grounds this morning, automobiles, bicycle and pa-u riders were assigned to their places by A. M. Brown, Marshal of the Day, and his assistants. The police were stationed at all the four gates, leading into the grounds.

Only a few hundred copies of the Sarner edition left. Order now and get this with People and Places of Hawaii for fifteen cents.

Schraeder, was taken down with diphtheria this week and the family are now in quarantine. Dr. Wm. L. Osmer cannot account how the child contracted the disease as the last case of diphtheria in Wailuku was quite a long while ago. However there is no cause for alarm, the County Physician assured the anxious ones who sought information from him.

There were Christian Endeavor and Sunday School exhibitions at Waipahu and Waipahu native churches, last Sunday. Both places were well attended by both scholars and visitors, and the examinations were quite interesting.

THOUSANDS SEE LONG PROCESSION

American-Hawaiian Paper Co.—Various colored papers, golden shower. In the car were Mrs. G. Guild, Mrs. MacConel, Miss Carden and Miss Hulda Guild.

Frank Lufkin—Bougainvillea. In the car were Miss Alice Cooper, G. Wood, Sanford Wood and Frank Lufkin.

A. T. Gomer—St. Valentine.

L. Petrie—Red roses with Shriners' emblem. In the car were L. Petrie, C. Murray, C. Brodie and G. Filmer.

Mrs. A. W. T. Bottomley—White Iris. In the car were Mrs. Bottomley and Mrs. J. B. Southgate.

Miss Beatrice Castle—Geranium. In the car with Miss Castle was Miss Alice Cooke.

Miss Hoogs—Natural flowers and ferns, intertwined with malle. In the car besides Miss Hoogs was Miss McKenzie.

W. D. Adams—Japanese Bibles. In the car were two tiny Japanese girls, the Misses Yukiko.

Japanese Merchants' Association.—Chrysanthemums. In the car were Miss Akai, Mrs. K. Naito, Miss Okubo, Miss Ota. On the top of the car, directly in front of the chauffeur was a "tombo," which is Japanese for hornet, made of flowers.

C. A. Stanton—This car withdrawn as Mr. Stanton has entered an elaborate float for the Kaimuki Land Co.

Henry Waterhouse Trust Company.—The company gave the floral parade committee an additional sum of money in place of entering a car, which proved impossible at the last moment.

R. J. Buchly—Body of car in dark green, hibiscus leaves being used. Top of car made into a pergola, with bougainvillea vines and flowers forming mass of bloom on top.

Dondero and Lansing—Seven-seater car decorated with Japanese parasols, opened. Wheels made of parasols and giant parasol covering whole car.

Miss Wilhelmina Tenney—Big seven-seater car beautifully decorated in nasturtiums and butterflies, a pleasant floral scheme and consistently carried out. Miss Tenney drove the car and her guests were Mrs. Harold Castle, Miss Vera Damon and Miss Rosie Horbert.

The Donna—Car wreathed with Shasta daisies and marguerites. Oswald Lightfoot driving. In car were Marguerite Phillips, Mrs. Dick Young and the Misses Aileen and Pearl McCarthy.

Albert Waterhouse—Car decorated in natural Hawaiian flowers.

Miss Keala Kaul—In an auto float representing the "Queen of Song."

Another car in natural flowers which attracted much attention was that of the Cornell Club.

T. S. R. C. Thetis—Automobile representing the revenue cutter and driven by Lieutenant Robinson was decorated with stuffed birds and was in a class by itself among all the other cars.

Van Hamm-Young Company—A Cadillac covered with artificial flowers in the royal colors of Hawaii. Manager E. E. Bodge of the automobile department driving the car.

Japanese Merchants' Association.—Car decorated in chrysanthemums, representing the national flower of Japan.

H. F. Wichman & Co.—Car decorated with cherry blossoms.

Alawa Improvement Club—Car decorated in fruits of Hawaii. Most unique.

Hawaiian Dredging Company—Car trimmed in lavender artificial flowers, which had a pleasing effect.

Dr. George B. Allen of Maui—Car decorated with Silver Sword, which grows in the crater of Haleakala, and which is found nowhere else in the islands. This car attracted much attention, and had what was probably the most unique decoration of any car.

E. P. Bishop—Car decorated with chrysanthemums, in the shape of a Japanese sampan. The Japanese scheme was well carried out.

G. P. Denison's car was decorated with artificial sweet peas, intertwined with malle.

The car entered by Alexander & Baldwin with a representation of King Kalakaua was a unique entry in the parade.

Miss Jessie Kennedy had a car decorated with blue and pink artificial roses, the large basket on the hood and those on the steps adding much to the beauty of the car.

One of the most artistic cars and one which advertised the advantages of Hawaii forcibly was that of the Hawaii Promotion Committee. On one side of the machine was a scene representing winter in the temperate zone, and on the other side was a winter scene in Hawaii.

Myrtle Boat Club auto was a tasty design, being decorated in red and white hibiscus flowers.

FLORAL PARADE

GOOD AS THE BEST

"You appear to be a stranger in Hawaii," said a Bulletin man to a tourist on King street, who was snapping his heels at everything in sight; "what do you think of the parade?" "It is simply grand. I did not think that it was possible to get up such an affair way down here in the Pacific. I wish everybody in the United States could see it. I have twice witnessed the Mardi Gras at New Orleans, which is the standard of the world in such doings, and while your floats are not so massive as those sported in the Crescent City of the South, for beauty and decorative ability of the car-owners, your floats and flower-bedecked autos compare more than favorably with anything that New Orleans or her rival, Los Angeles, can put up."

The Clarion

Miss Alice Hatfield, the Hawaii princess, had trouble with her big black horse at the corner of King and Fort streets. She proved herself an equestrienne by retaining her mount and bringing the horse under control unaided.

There was a big bunch of Elks on the awning before the Elks' Club which was liberal in its applause for every float and auto that passed.

One stranger, a mechanic, said of the parade, "This is like seeing a world's fair." A resident told him he was seeing an island world pass.

A section of the small school boys broke into the familiar Island expression, "Home," and gaily waved their flags at the King street turn, much to the consternation of the young ladies in charge.

The Japanese car decorated with cherry blossoms had an accident and was laid out of the parade for a few moments, but Heine English, the young driver, managed to make his repairs and catch up with the procession before it passed the Capitol on Beretania street.

Word went along the line for blocks that the big funny man in the comic car was Bruce Cartwright. He was given a reception at every turn, especially when he hopped lightly in and out of the car.

The busiest man before the parade was Superintendent Pratt, astride a horse herding street cars.

Many people, island residents at that, learned for the first time today what silver grass was, when the car of Dr. Aiken passed.

"Certainly lots of children here of the same age," commented one stranger when school children were passing in parade.

"Where do all the horses come from?" another stranger asked. When told that thousands of horses are raised in Hawaii, he seemed surprised.
